Oregon and Washington contain some of the most scenic waterways in the US, and provide excellent fishing for various species of fish.

An overnight trip in a non-motorized drift boat is a great way to go.

Client Feedback

On our September 26, 2003, trip I found your recommended guide to be top notch. Thank you for the great service that you provide and I want to tell you, "You were honest. And you weren't kidding when you said this guide was one of the best."

Our guided trip on the Columbia River for summer salmon was simply unbelievable.

Thank you for a great service and the great operation you have in helping clients find the best guide to fit their needs. If you ever need a reference don't hesitate to call me. You have one hell of a reference with me.
